Christian leader has exemplified daily
the ideals of service and sacrifice, we dedicate this volume of the*

ETONIAN

IN PREPARING this edition of the ETONIAN it has been the ambition of the staff not only to record in enduring form the events and activities of the school year 1928-1929, but also to present in the art motif the background of the spirit and ideals of our College as reflected in the farm life of Lancaster County twenty-five years ago.

The COLLEGE

Alma Mater

We hail thee, Alma Mater, dear,
As now we sing thy praise.
O let thy walls and storied halls
Resound with endless praise.

CHORUS

We love thy sons so noble,
Thy daughters fair and true.
We love thee ever, oh E. C.,
And thy colors, Gray and Blue.
The strong and fair alike to share
The labours of thy hand,
Together they proclaim alway
Thy glory through the land.
As long as breezes 'round thee blow,
And countless ages roll,
May heaven's blessings on thee rest
While we thy name extoll.

FACULTY AND

RALPH WIEST SCHLOSSER
President

Pd. B., Elizabethtown College, 1907; A. B., Ursinus College, 1911; A. M., Ursinus College, 1912; Student, Bethany Bible School, summer 1915; A. M., Columbia University, 1922; Student, Union Theological Seminary, 1921-1922; completed Ph. D. residence requirements at Columbia University.

Ralph W. Schlosser, President of Elizabethtown College, is esteemed by its students and faculty because of his high ideals, his scholarly thought, his magnetic personality, and his energetic program of advancement and progress. He is well fitted for the position which he holds because of his close association with the college both as a student and a teacher. He is able to detect equally well the needs of the student and the problems of the teacher. He was first an instructor of the preparatory studies, professor of English, Latin and French, and finally head of the English Department. In 1922 he became Dean of the College and, upon the resignation of Dr. Henry K. Ober, in 1928, he was chosen as President of the College.

A. C. BAUGHER
Dean

Pd. B., Elizabethtown College, 1917; A. B., Elizabethtown College, 1922; B. S., Franklin and Marshall College, 1922; Graduate student, Columbia University, summers 1919, 1921 and 1922; A. M., University of Pennsylvania, 1927-28.

A. C. Baugher has been connected with Elizabethtown College as a student, as a teacher of Geography, as assistant in Chemistry and Physics, and is now Professor of Chemistry and Physics. He was also Dean of Men and is at present Dean of the College. His efforts in the Science Department have aided much in its rapid development and the maintenance of its high standards. As Dean of the College he is capably meeting the demands of administration and proving an efficient adviser to the students in their work. He is vitally interested in the progress of the school and its student body. Wit, a whole-hearted sincerity, and a spirit of fellowship earn for him the friendship of the school.

Henry K. Ober, ex-president of Elizabethtown College, is now serving the Brethren Church of Elizabethtown as its pastor and giving to the students of the College a spiritual guidance. His association with the young people of the Academy and College for many years allows him to recognize their needs and problems. His interest in youth is not only one arising from his church duties but a deeper one centering on the importance of forming right habits and attitudes for the development of a Christian character. The students feel he is a friend of the College and appreciate his frequent visits among them.

COMMITTEE ON STUDENT WELFARE

Professor A. P. Wenger, Professor Harry Mountjoy, Dean of Men, and Mrs. McCann, Dean of Women, comprise the Committee on Student Welfare of Elizabethtown College. Its members are so chosen that each phase of college life, with its individual problems, will be represented. It acts as an advisory group to the several student government organizations, and to the student councils in their responsibilities and duties as executors of student regulations.

The committee has proved itself a great aid in the solution of student problems because of its richer life experience and its thorough understanding of student and dormitory life. The students appreciate its work and efforts because of the high Christian ideals which it embodies.

Class Poem

Among the pictures treasured and fair
That gaily bedeck my Memory's Wall,
Are scenes most rare of College Days,
Those choice reminiscent, best days of all.

As fondly the light of an earlier day
The vision greets—so hallowed and dear,
So quickly is wrought the miracle of change
Bringing distant forms and faces near.

In its depths a lifetime of meaning we see:
Joys we together have known and shared;
In the twilight hush of revery dim
Our hearts in true adoration are bared.

With a step that is buoyant and full of glee
Again we are treading the College green;
Again we are answering the glad hello
Of friends in the old familiar scene.

Again we are hearing with eager hearts
The rich full wisdom of the Past:
From textbook and master seeking to gain
Impressions of new and nobler cast.

O Chapel Hour! What grace the name
Presents before our earthbound eyes,
What echoes, voices, faces loved!
Who knows the magic of the skies?

Those pictures of Memory brightly keep
Ye friends of precious College Days!
Ever shall the Class of Twenty-nine
By song our Alma Mater praise.

The years which are spent in college are the years around which one's entire future life revolves. It is true that these are the happiest years in one's life and also true that the deepest and most lasting impressions are made during this period.

In the fall of '25 one of the largest classes in the history of the school chose Elizabethtown for its Alma Mater. After we were comfortably located in our dorms and partially initiated into college life, we took up our Freshmen tasks. We organized in the early part of the fall, choosing Mr. Clarence Frye as president, and "Honor lies at Labor's Gate" as our motto. At this time we were introduced to our class adviser, Professor Herr, who always had a keen interest in our class affairs, which contributed much to the success of our class. The largest function of the year was the class trip to Valley Forge. Our class banquet and spring outing, which was held at Prof. Herr's summer cottage at Mt. Gretna, also strengthened our class union.

Our class was somewhat smaller during the Sophomore year. Mr. Galen Kilhefner ably performed his duties as president during this year. The most noteworthy function of the year was the trip to the Sesqui-Centennial, which we had the privilege to take. Other socials held at school also strengthened our class spirit.

As Juniors our roll was small but with little attention to this fact we undertook the largest work of one's college life, publishing the ETONIAN. We all put forth a united effort and succeeded in publishing one of the best books ever published. We wisely chose Mr. Wilbur Cassel, a newcomer into our ranks, as president. During the year we enjoyed a mid-winter strawride on a cold, crisp November night, illuminated by a large knowing moon. Probably the largest event of the year was the banquet given in honor of the Seniors, at Stumpf's restaurant at Mt. Joy.

Now we are coming to the top of the ladder. Probably one of the most unique things about our class is the fact that old Dan Cupid was not cunning enough to securely lodge any of his arrows in the heart of any one of our members. We re-elected Mr. Cassel as our president. Many newcomers entered our ranks for their senior year. On a pleasant November evening Mr. Minnich invited us to a taffy-pull at his home. This was the initial social event of the year and certainly was enjoyed by all. The class banquet was held at Chef's Place, where we ate an abundance of chicken and waffle.

Thus we have given you the history of the class and we trust that in doing so we have strengthened the ties which bound us so firmly together. We do not wish to say Good-bye, so we'll simply say Adieu.

In the autumn of 1926 thirty-five young hopefuls kissed the home folks good-bye and started out on the great adventure. Thirty-five gazing "ever higher" to that field where folks hoed their own row. Soon all became accustomed to college ways and began to sow the seed for future accomplishments. The crop was bountiful and we cultivated the fine arts; harrowed the upper classmen in the tug-of-war, volleyball, basketball, and tennis; planted freshmen on the debating team and in the editor's chair of the College Times; reaped fun and frolic at our banquet and on our bus trip to Havre de Grace, and otherwise marketed ourselves as desirable students. Professor Wenger undertook the task of directing our growth.

Advancing from young shoots to sturdy plants, our Sophomore year was just as eventful. Guided by the principle of crop rotation we allowed the incoming freshmen to reap the victories in the tug of war and basket-ball while we moved on to other fields. The girls excelled in tennis and debating, and all exhibited a fine caliber of school work. Fearing that the veneer of a college education would have blotted out our farm mannerisms, we staged a hobo party in Givler's barn, and also took a trip over the Gettysburg battlefield and the surrounding country.

This, our Junior year, even though many have departed from the rural school, is our flowering season. Everyone expended his utmost originality in publishing a successful edition of the ETONIAN. Other interests, both academic, athletic, and social, claimed our attention. The poverty-stricken group that gathered down on the farm all agreed that our college experiences were rich and varied.

Even though in experience the horn of plenty has been extended to us, we are looking forward to a last year, when we shall gather in the fruits of our labors for use in our chosen vocations.

ESTHER E. BAKER

69 E. MAIN ST., MOUNT JOY, PA.

Basketball (2, 3), Athletic Ed.tor of Etonian (3).

"Baker"—Has anyone seen Baker? Tell her to hurry, please. She is wanted on first floor by a mischievous dark-eyed senior. How many times have the folks on second floor heard that cry?

Do we know her, that blonde Miss from Mt. Joy? We can't miss her! Energy enough to play a keen basketball game and dance all night, yet "Eddie" seems almost listless when she enters the class room.

She gets along with her classes very well, but how she does it is a continuous source of wonderment to her classmates for she can rarely be caught studying.

"Baker" attended Lebanon Valley College her Freshman Year. We are glad she decided to come to E'town.

This young person won't give us much information about herself, but we know that she has definitely decided not to let the teaching profession possess her services always. For her we would prophesy a future filled with dreams and happy living, for she's not the kind to dream alone. As our friend and classmate we wish her the best of life throughout the Coming Years.

ANNA BISHOP

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Anna Mae Bishop is one of our girls who diets, then gives up in despair—but whether the avoirdupois is plus or minus, we love her just the same.

She is always in for fun, whether school work is piled up or not. Don't misunderstand, for Anna Mae always finishes it, especially Greek, unless she is preparing for a debate.

Would you think that this sweet, innocent looking lassie has a dual personality? Of course, you wouldn't, but we want to warn you that she has. She tries her best to make us believe that she is quiet and serious but we got some "inside information" on the person in question and we find outside of school that she is really full of fun and mischief and is the clown of the "gang."

Anna Mae is one of the girls whom we hear very little about at school because she spends so little of her time here with us. As soon as classes are over, away she goes for she is a day student.

We often wonder if she will remain in the teaching profession or risk the matrimonial highway.

HAROLD I. EBERSOLE

225 E. CLAY ST., LANCASTER, PA.
Vice President of Class (1, 3), Class Social Committee (1, 3), Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3), School Social Committee (3), Treasurer and Asst. Manager of Debate (3), Asst. Basketball Manager (3), Advertising Manager of Etoman (3).

Behold the "Chief Assistant." Harold holds the record when it comes to being an assistant, for his is assistant this and assistant that; in fact, he is assistant manager, or vice-chairman of about everything on the hill. The reason for this is very clear, "Eb" is a worker. It is often said that the leader of a group always gets the credit and his assistant does the work. This past year Ebersole certainly has done his share. In all of his activities from chairman of the "Y" Motion Picture Committee to Advertising Manager of the Etoman, he has always put his best into the work, and deserves much credit.

But "Eb" does not let his work take the joy out of life, for he is always happy. His pleasant smile is well known on the campus; in fact, so well that he has been christened "Sonny Boy" by some of the students. Even his one great trouble of the year could not remove this famous smile. Oh, yes, "Eb" had trouble, his roommates, ask him.

MABEL ESHELMAN

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

"No end to fun and jollity" is Mabel's slogan, from morn till night. She is always the life and spirit of the crowd; just ask any of the day students. Does this lady slight her lessons with all this? Guess again.

When it comes to ideas and suggestions of all types, Mabel surely ranks high.

She is a good sport and everyone likes her. Those who know her best know her brother also, for she has placed him on her shrine of worship.

We are overjoyed that you turned your back on the little red school house and used such good judgment in joining our class. We want you to know that without you our class could not have been called complete.

People have been known to speak of Mabel as reserved, but have you ever wandered into the Day Students' Room during Mabel's lucid intervals? Loyal in her friendship, faithful to her undertakings, and witty of speech, her associates have learned to treasure her friendship as one of the bright spots in their memory of College Hill.

W. W. ESHELMAN

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Class Social Committee (1), Athletic Reporter Times (1, 2), Associate Editor of Times (3), President of Class (3), Manager of Debating (3), Manager of Football (3), Secretary-treasurer of Candles (3), Business Manager of Etonian (3), Senior-Junior Tribunal (3), Debating Team (3).

"The best portion of a good man's life, his little, nameless, unremembered acts."

When we want a man with a head for business methods, we seek "Esh." He early established his reputation by his ability as Business Manager of "The Etonian." He has won laurels for E. C. as well as for himself in debating. His rebuttal speeches make all sit up and take notice. It is rare to find a man in whom are so well blended ability and dependability—but here he is—and for him we predict the top round of the ladder of success in business life. His chief aim is to become a lawyer. He is the busiest person who always finds time in which to do a kind act for some one. No favor is too large or too small to be asked of him. Would that more of us had some of his sterling qualities. As president of the class, he steered us through our many difficulties and we appreciate his work and spirit he always showed. Here is a secret. "Ladies are his specialty."

MARION S. GEIST

BLUE BALL, PA.

Student Council (2, 3), Secretary (2), Secretary-treasurer of Debating Association (3), Class Secretary (3), Vice President Women's Student Association (3).

Marion, after teaching one year, came to E. C. to pursue the course in Liberal Arts. She is majoring in literature. However, even though you may not believe it, not all Marion's time is spent in studying. She spends some time in the office, a little in talking, then she is a member of Student Council, and at other times she is attending committee meetings, trying to decide how the next social can be made as great a success as the previous.

Marion is one of the best known girls at school. All the freshmen met her the opening day at the Get-Acquainted social, where, with the aid of another person, she introduced the upper classmen.

She seems to be attracted by the library, where she may be seen every evening, for she is Professor Rose's assistant. There, if you have any difficulty and you make your wishes known, she will endeavor to assist you in solving it. You might think she is a very sober miss, but after the library is closed, oh, what a change!

Lest we forget, Marion is an excellent Bible student, interested especially in the study of "Noahs."

RUTH H. HENRY

ANNVILLE, PA., R. 1

Chorus (1, 2, 3), Volunteer Band (1, 2, 3), Treasurer (3), Debating (2, 3), Quartet (2, 3), Class Athletics (1, 2, 3).

"Henry" had received her Standard Certificate last year, but, to our good fortune, she decided to return and finish with our class. An energetic, enthusiastic, open-minded girl—it takes Ruth to successfully formulate the plans for some program. She demonstrated this in the manner in which she executed the plans for the Y. W. C. A. program this year. Never did she let the girls lose sight of that radio to be.

Ruth has won honor for her class not only on the athletic field, but on the debating floor, and as our "song-bird."

Dormitory life cannot be monotonous with her around for there are too many little pranks and mysteries which she can explain, if she will.

However, often over week-ends "Henry" is not on the "dorm" but out with the volunteers doing deputation work.

In brief, "Henry" is a four-square girl, and all success to her in her teaching career.

C. F. JENKINS

22 S. 16TH ST., HARRISBURG, PA.

Mr. Jenkins, our representative from Harrisburg, entered the class the second semester of our freshman year. He is not seen very much on "College Hill" since he commutes. However, we feel he has a most excellent reason for commuting. The reason—he, unlike his class-mates, had the courage to abandon "this single strife" and with his wife has established a happy home.

Mr. Jenkins is an ideal student, a thinker, always making distinct contributions in our class discussions.

We believe he must, at some time or other, have memorized the Boy Scout Law, for he surely lives by it. We all should like to be Boy Scouts, if he were Scoutmaster.

However, he is a Scoutmaster in a higher sense. His congeniality, his courtesy, his dignity, his intellect, his culture, his sincerity, blend admirably in bestowing to him a personality which well fits him for his chosen work, the ministry.

I. WAYNE KELLER

909 W. KING ST., YORK, PA.

School Social Committee (1), Debating Team (1, 3), College Times, Editor (1), Department Assistant (3), Class President (1), Chorus (1, 3), Vice President, Y. M. C. A. (3), Editor of Etonian (3), Senior-Junior Tribunal Secretary (3), Laboratory Assistant in Biology (3), President of Candles (3), Football (3), Class Athletics (1, 3).

I. Wayne Keller, Jr. Cast your optics on this. The all-around man of E-town College. As a journalist, a debater, a public speaker and a student, "Ike" has few peers. His versatility is even sufficiently extensive to comprehend efficiency in the sphere of athletics. His determination was well displayed on the line of E-town's dramatic and unique football combination. Nothing but the highest expectations accompany any thought of our editor's future. Nevertheless, we have some misgivings. "Ike" believes in the Biblical injunction, that it is not well for a man to live alone. His college life has been one of steady descension. As a Freshman he roomed on the third floor of Fairview Apartments. As a Junior he occupied a room on the second floor. With the acquisition of a June bride, we believe that Keller will reside on the first floor of these apartments.

"Ike!" we extend to you best wishes for a happy married life and a most successful career in the business world.

HOWARD A. KERR

MCVEY TOWN, PA.

Baseball Team (2), Vice President of Class (2), Manager of College Store (2).

"Kerr" is one of the late members of our class, having been on the roll only since the beginning of the second semester. However, this is only his second year of college work, so you see he is really a faster worker than his fellow-classmates.

He is our man of science. If you are looking for him, you will be directed to the "lab," where you will usually find him absorbed in dissecting anything from worms to human nature.

"Kerr" also spends his time in the College Store, where he has learned the art of handing out Polar Pies, notebooks, and bills.

In that manner Kerr's day is employed. But we have not touched upon the evening. It is then that "Kerr" and "Doc" put their heads together. Soon there is a burst of laughter in the hall and all the fellows congregate. These two conspirators then have the best time laughing to themselves.

"Kerr" does not expect to return to E. C. next year, but the best wishes of the class go with him as he enters the medical school. The class of 1930 will not forget its own "M. D."

GALEN C. KILHEFNER

19 LINCOLN AVE., EPHRATA, PA.

Volunteers (1, 2, 3), Male Quartet (1, 2, 3), Chorus (1, 2, 3), Vice President of Class (2), Student Council (1), Debating (2), President of Class (2), Alumni Editor Etontian (3), Class Athletics (1, 2, 3).

How happy we are that this dignified and wise gentleman cast his lot with ours for he is one of our very best all around classmates, and a student with excellent class records. Galen is one of those dependable young men who is always a worthy example for the rest of us. He has exceptionally high ideals and continually strives, by example and precept, to raise the moral and religious standards of those with whom he associates. Not only is Galen very industrious intellectually, but he is very active religiously. He is an able minister, and a very fine chorister, noted for his melodious bass voice. He is the President of the Student Volunteers. Galen is a star player in basketball and tennis. His field goals in basketball make any boy envious. His sharp cuts in tennis are hard to beat. Galen spent a year working in the Ephrata National Bank. He is very witty and does his share of teasing. In social activities he is quite successful, especially with the opposite sex. It is not necessary to forecast this man's future. Our best wishes go with you, Galen.

SAMUEL J. NAYLOR

710 MARYLAND AVE., YORK, PA.

"And I must work! Oh!
What a waste of time."

When you hear an uneven step in the hall you know it's Sam. This shuffling of feet is to warn Professor Rose that he is on his way. He is one of the Librarian's favorite disturbers of the peace in the store house of knowledge. He has been with us only a year, having taken his work elsewhere. Last year you could have found "Sam" moulding the youths of Middletown. Sam always has a bright smile for everyone. But then, too, folks of Sam's size are always jolly. Sam does not believe in dieting. He has a keen sense of humor and his hearty laugh is enjoyed by all. Ladies are a part of his program. Wherever you go and whatever you do, joy and success to you, Sam.

P. S.—We wonder just what forces would be required to keep Sam on the Hill over a week-end. It just naturally isn't done.

ELLIS E. REBER

MOHRSVILLE, PA.

Department Assistant College Times (2), Student Council (3), Candles (3), Feature Editor of Etonian (3).

Ellis Reber. Here is our young, future, scientific agriculturalist. It is Ellis' greatest ambition to educate our present-day farmers to use more scientific methods to feed the future generations. One walking through the halls of Fairview Apartments during the evening can see a group gathered together in one of the rooms, and upon investigation find that Ellis is lecturing on the subject: "How to produce the best crop of raspberries at the least expense." But the greatest difficulty is that in order to understand what his "line" is all about, one must carry a pocket-dictionary.

But we predict that Ellis would make a better philosopher than a farmer, and feel that it will be necessary for Webster to revise his present dictionary in order to avoid the competition of Mr. Reber.

We, the class of '30, are sure that Ellis will be successful in anything that he attempts because of the determination he has in all his undertakings.

NORMAN F. REBER

CENTERPORT, PA.

Business Manager of College Times (2, 3), Class Treasurer (3), Assistant Business Manager of Etonian (3), Debating (3), Student Council (3).

Here's Norman, the energetic young man who comes to us from Berks County. He is one of the all-around students on college hill.

When it comes to optimism the entire student body unites in handing the laurels to Norman. No matter what the problem or task he is always ready to help with a cheerful smile.

"Norm's choice of words and his splendid delivery have won for him a place on the debating team and also secured first place for him in the oratorical contest. He is one of the star track men. His persistent effort and steady training always brings victory for him.

These are not all of his attributes: in the dramatic cantata given in the Spring he showed a combination of musical and dramatic talent. Truly one must say, "Who comes here, 'A Daniel?'"

This fine gentleman certainly is a great asset to the class of '30. We wish him the best of success and hope that as he meets opportunities he will make them all realities.

IRENE K. ROYER

NEFFSVILLE, PA.

Class Secretary (1), Student Council (2, 3), Secretary, Y. W. W. A. (2), Secretary of Athletic Association (2), Chairman Class Social Committee (2), Chairman School Social Committee (2), College Times Staff (2), Manager of Tennis (2, 3), Debating Team (2, 3), Manager of Girls' Debating Association (3), Assistant Editor of Etonian (3), Girls' Varsity Basketball Team (3), Class Athletics (1, 2, 3).

"To love and be loved is the great happiness of existence," is Irene's motto.

"Royce" is one of the most elusive girls in the College. You may pursue her over the campus and in Commercial Hall and when at last you think you have captured her, behold, she is auto-riding with Hiram.

Through her three years on College Hill she has been very quiet but also active. She is our girls' champion tennis player.

Irene, silent as to herself and what she does is rather a relief from the ever-bubbling confidence of most girls but, strange to say, that same silence seems to assure us of her willingness to listen to our ravings.

Irene rates a high I-Q, and so, if measurements mean anything, she should be a wonderful teacher.

CLYDE WENGER

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Class Athletics (1; 3), Varsity Basketball Team (3), Football Team (3), Athletic Editor of Etonian (3).

"Come on, fellows." When Clyde says this it means that something is going to be done, for when it comes to a question of arousing school spirit or of carrying out a project, just leave it to him. Besides pulling high marks in his classes, he finds time to participate whole heartedly in extra-curricular activities. We fear our socials would have been a failure had Clyde not pulled us safely through.

He is a man of great experience, as he has taught and also attended Millersville State Teachers' College.

Wenger has been invaluable to our basketball team. He is an all-around athlete and is always on the firing line when called upon to do his bit for Old E. C.

When anyone speaks of a tea room he always mentions "The Fifth Avenue Tea Room." We wonder why? In the social world he is a "Beau Brummel," but he is that as it may we feel assured of his success in whatever line of work he may follow, and the class of '30 wishes him the best of success.

A. WARREN ANGSTADT

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Varsity Football (3), Varsity Basketball (3), Senior-Junior Tribunal (3), College Times Reporter (3), Art Editor of Etonian (3).

This young man came from Juniata College, where he gained much fame as an athlete. E. C. thought it best to claim an Elizabethtown boy as theirs. He is very energetic and has accomplished much in securing athletics at E'town. "Red," as we better know him, is always securing yell from the bleachers when a game is being played. He gained much favor as a tennis champion while at Juniata. One morning, in Chapel, one of the Professors said, "Some couples seem to be making progress." "Red" turned to Bower and said earnestly, "Do you think he means me?" In the short time he has been with us, he has made his presence felt. His career is unsettled. Matrimony and ease—or work, whatever it may be, "Red" will make good, for he is a "fighter." The manner in which he led the fellows in their campaign for football as a recognized sport of the college shows that he is not afraid of opposition, and the way in which he led the "B13" through the season, despite all obstacles, proved he is not easily stopped. Our best wishes go with you, "Red."

WILLIAM K. WINTERS

ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Advertising Manager of Times (3).

"Do you hear that noise?" That's Bill, look, he's winding up the watch of wit—so it will strike." When days were cold and dreary, and everyone was feeling blue, Bill always drove away the gloom, by springing one of his funny stories just at the psychological moment. Results: Everyone laughing and the sun shining. All who know Bill agree that he is a pretty level-headed sort of chap. Just walk down Market Street and observe the Central Cut Rate Drug Store, Bill runs that and it spells success for him. He has such an unique way of advertising his goods. Bill is frequently seen with a little miss from Harrisburg; now we know why he says it is difficult for him to study. Bill also took some work at Franklin and Marshal College but decided to join our class. We wish you the best, Bill, in anything you pursue.

HELEN MAGNIFICO

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Feature Editor of Etoman (3).

This little lassie comes from the City of "Brotherly Love." "Our class welcomes you, Helen." "Variety is the spice of life," seems to be Helen's creed for she was not satisfied to receive all her education at one college. She has attended Lebanon Valley College. Helen is a jolly good sport and is always ready to have a good time with someone. If you want to hear a good story ask her to tell you all about the little "Whippet" she runs up the hills and down. Helen is never without friends; indeed, she has so many boy friends she finds it advisable to keep a date book so as matters do not become confused. We do not know much of Helen's plans, but whatever she may do, the best wishes of the class go with her.

A little while ago, in fact, it was September, 1928, a group of students, bewildered and confused, entered Elizabethtown College to begin life as freshmen and seize opportunities offered us. We wandered and wondered, not hopelessly, but eagerly, just what we should enjoy, acquire and contribute to life among our associates and colleagues. Here we found congenial classmates, always ready to co-operate, an ever-willing and interesting faculty, who helped us to become orientated to the manners, modes of life and scenery of college.

After things grew clearer around us we began to indulge in the search for truth, facts and knowledge. We had moments of drudgery, criticism, and adversity, which, however, seemed to agree with our constitutions, brace our nerves, and call out the treasures of our minds. In our environment we caught glimpses of great riches, we groped and reached for them, sometimes grasping and again just breathing their essence, but always receiving the desire to see, learn, and know, that we might be filled with the light of intelligence and enrich our concepts to a larger degree.

In a fleeting glance backward over our Freshman year we notice a few high spots. We entered with fifty members, and after we had become acquainted with our classmates and others on College Hill, the first important event was the organization of our class. Benjamin Hoffman was chosen as president, and fulfilled the duties of his office efficiently and capably. We chose as our motto, "No victory without labor." Purple and white were decided upon as the class colors and the White American Beauty Rose was chosen as the class flower. We retain vivid memories of the tug-of-war and the Freshman social. In basket-ball our girls won the intra-mural championship, and the boys had a very successful season.

And now we are no longer freshmen but have risen to distinction, where we smile sympathetically at the behavior, nicety, frolic and antics of a young and verdant group of students. We have succeeded in becoming a part of the more elect and learned.

In this, our sophomore year, we elected Carl Zeigler, a real statesman, to the presidency, Jesse Woodward, willing and enthusiastic, as secretary, and Gertrude Madeira, trustworthy and capable, as treasurer. Various committees were appointed by the president to function in social, athletic, and literary activities. We have not been disappointed in our officers and appointed committees, for they are quite alert, and grasp every opportunity to add zest, prestige and enlightenment to all activities of the school calendar.

Activity is the basis of youthful vigor and sophomore blood always shows a means of asserting itself in all forms of healthful mental and physical expression. In major sports, games, and contests, sophomores show their confidence, skill, enthusiasm, quick wit, and fine spirit.

Socially we are never lacking. Our social committee is exceptionally fond of desirably entertaining in the form of socials and banquets, which are never without merriment, gaiety, splendid toasts and delicious food. In the jovial and congenial atmosphere of these functions and gatherings we find true, sincere, lively and interesting fellowship and association.

Since our class organization we have observed sincere interest, splendid guidance, excellent counsel and a fine sense of humor in the well-liked and indispensable personality of our class advisor, Prof. H. H. Nye.

The class of '31 looks back and reviews with pleasure the life it has lived here on the hill and looks forward into the future with hope and anticipation of bigger and better success and enjoyment in the excellent things which exist for all.

Class Adviser	A. C. Baugher, A. M.

The authorities of Elizabethtown College might well have named the first freshman of the class of '32, Gad, and added Leah's oft-repeated phrase, "Lo, a troop cometh!" For on the day of enrollment, the offices were filled with spirited young people who were ready to begin the life which they formerly had lived in dreams.

The organization of the Freshman class was effected on September 11, 1928, under the direction of our class adviser, Professor Baugher, and the officers for the year were elected. From this time there seemed to be more order in the freshman ranks, and that class spirit and power which result from efficient organization. The social, constitution, and athletic committees were appointed by the president in order to accomplish more thoroughly the business of the class.

By October the green of the campus was almost obscured by the artificial verdure imposed upon the freshmen by the wise and mighty sophomores. Tribunals composed of upper-classmen were immediately organized to enforce "the wearing of the green." The delinquents who failed to wear the necessary badges of honor were soon made conspicuous by the addition of bricks, signs, infant apparel, and significant limps. And did we enjoy it? Yea! We would not think of depriving the next freshman class of the experience.

The autumn days went by with the freshmen under complete subordination to the powers that be, until, along about Thanksgiving time, there came a day cold enough for the annual tug-of-war, which is fast becoming a tradition at Elizabethtown College. The Freshman confidence was shown by the doffing of dinks and green ribbons before the tug had really begun. The shores of the lake were crowded with enthusiastic rooters who did much to encourage the brawny representatives of the competing classes. The freshman confidence was not misplaced, for after a few minutes of keen competition, the twelve sophomores "broke the ice" and plowed through the frigid waters, struggling helplessly against the power of the twelve sturdy freshmen. Valor was not without reward, for the most obnoxious of the regulations were automatically removed as a result of the freshman victory. A jubilant shout arose from seventy throats as the freshmen rushed in to the bountiful Thanksgiving dinner, devoid of all symbols of their enforced subordination.

We feel that this year has meant much to us and to the college. Not only has this freshman class surpassed all preceding classes in force of numbers, but it has also contributed unusually much to the life of the college in the fields of scholarship and athletics. The class includes a large number of honor students from high schools all over the State; students who will probably do much to uphold the high standard of scholarship recently set by Elizabethtown College. It is a source of much pride to the Freshman class that it ranks above all others in its number of star athletes on the varsity foot-ball and basket-ball squads. We hope next year to make even greater contributions to the name and fame of our dear Alma Mater.

ALUMNI

Alumni Gifts

Just as a family is known by its children, so a college is known by its alumni. Their loyalty to their Alma Mater is a measure of what she has meant in their lives. The success of many schools has been made possible because of her graduates who had become successful in their vocations and out of their means had contributed to the school that had helped to prepare them for life. The older a school is, the larger its alumni association becomes and the greater the proportion of those who have reached their maximum earning power.

We are appreciative of the fact that our school is comparatively young, its group of alumni small, and of these many are just now becoming established in their businesses and professions. But in spite of all these limiting factors their gifts to the school stand out as a tribute to their appreciation of their Alma Mater and to their desire that she shall become an institution of increased usefulness.

Athletic Field—The first project of considerable size sponsored by the Alumni was the purchase of a twenty-nine acre tract of land adjoining the original college campus. This increased the campus to about fifty acres, and laid the foundations for a number of future improvements.

Lake Pracida—The first large improvement upon the Alumni purchase was the making of an artificial lake. The northwestern corner of the campus was rather low, with a small natural water supply. With the help of the students a concrete wall was built parallel to the road, to block the water flowing across the campus. Lake Pracida has an area of nearly four acres and the students who have enjoyed boating upon it during the warmer months of school and skating on its ice in winter feel grateful to the Alumni for this valuable gift to the college. As the trees and shrubbery grow up around the lake we can expect that it will become within a few years one of the most beautiful parts of the campus.

New Athletic Field—During the summer of 1926 a part of the Alumni tract was graded with a steam shovel. The land had been fairly level and with a comparatively small amount of work was transferred into a beautiful athletic field. On this graded land is a quarter mile running track, a baseball diamond, jumping pits, and a soccer field. This improvement was a big step in providing for the recreation of the student body.

The Gymnasium—Those who have been students of the college in former years remember the old "gym" in the basement of Memorial Hall. And those who played basketball there, shooting the ball against the ceiling, and bumping into the posts, eagerly looked forward to the time when Elizabethtown College would have a gymnasium which they could show their friends without any temptation to apologize.

At last the gymnasium which seemed so far in the future has become a reality and we almost feel like pinching ourselves to see whether or not we are really awake. It is situated on the Alumni land and was paid for, not entirely but in large part, by the Alumni of the college. The building is probably the most beautiful of the five on the campus and the inside is no less attractive than the outside. It offers to the school splendid facilities for inter-collegiate and intra-mural basketball. This new building has a large stage and a seating capacity of at least a thousand. As an auditorium it will for many years meet our needs in providing a place to hold school functions and programs of various kinds.

The students are deeply indebted to the folks who have made these additions to the school equipment possible, and we hope that as a result of our Alumni's interest in the growth of the college, our school may continue to serve a larger number of people in an increasingly better way.

County Clubs

We are living in the day of family reunions. The principle which causes people to enjoy an opportunity of spending a day with their kin works just as truly in a college family. Partly in recognition of this desire to meet old school-mates and partly to keep the Alumni and former students more intimately related to the school a movement has been set afoot to organize county club units of the Alumni Association. Up to the present time three units have been organized—in Lancaster, Lebanon and York Counties. Several more are being planned and will probably be effected within the next few years.

The Lancaster County Club was the first of its kind and was organized in November, 1927, at a meeting held in the Hotel Brunswick during the week of county teachers' institute. This last November the first anniversary was celebrated at the Hotel Weber. Those present included faculty members, alumni, former students, and several of this year's student group. Throughout the evening a splendid spirit prevailed and the opportunity of meeting school acquaintances, coupled with an exchange of thoughts in the interest of their Alma Mater, well repaid all those who had the privilege of attending the banquet. A reorganization was effected and the officers elected to serve during this year are:

President—C. H. Royer, '25
Vice President—S. S. Wenger, '27
Secretary—Anna Bull, '27
Treasurer—Raymond F. Brubaker, '27

The Lebanon County Club was the second to organize. Their first meeting was held at Moyer's Restaurant, in Lebanon, and was attended by about thirty-five alumni, former students and faculty members. Those who were present enjoyed the splendid spirit of the meeting and decided to hold a similar meeting the following year. As the years go on the alumni and students who find positions in the vicinity of Lebanon will enjoy these annual meetings of the Lebanon County unit of county clubs. The officers elected for the first year are:

President—Vera R. Hackman, '25
Vice President—Mary (Francis) Beckley, '18
Secretary-Treasurer—Ethel M. B. Wenger, '24

York County—The first county club organized in southern Pennsylvania consists of those who live in the York region. Approximately fifty-five attended the first meeting, which was held in the dining hall of the York Y. M. C. A. Among those present were several of the older students who had been at Elizabethtown a number of years ago. The first meeting of the York unit was very interesting and we are sure that their meetings in future years will continue to prove occasions of fellowship and inspiration. The York County Club chose for their officers:

President—Harrison M. Arnold, '25
Secretary—Ursula A. Ernst, '27
Treasurer—Eli S. Keeny, '27

General Association—In addition to the three county clubs, there is an association of all the former students of Elizabethtown, including those of the Academy, Junior College, and the regular college graduates. It is this organization, working with and through the several county clubs which has sponsored the various improvements and additions at the college, which are described on preceding pages under the head "Alumni Gifts."

The officers of this association are:

President—C. L. Martin, '13 Lancaster, Pa.
 Vice President—I. E. Shoop, '05 Elizabethtown, Pa.
 Secretary—L. D. Rose, '11 Elizabethtown, Pa.
 Treasurer—J. W. Kettering, '23 Elizabethtown, Pa.

The Board of Directors is composed of these officers and H. H. Nye, '15; J. H. Breitigam, '05; H. K. Ober, '08, and R. W. Schlosser, '11, ex-officio, and J. Z. Herr, '05, ex-officio.

ACTIVITIES

*There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
There are souls that are pure and true;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.*

*Give love, and love to your heart will flow,
A strength in your utmost need;
Have faith, and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.*

*For life is the mirror of king and slave.
'Tis just what you are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.*

College Bulletin

The College publishes four bulletins during each year,—the Summer Term Bulletin, the College Bulletin, the Alumni Register, and the Bible Institute Bulletin.

The Summer Term Bulletin includes a list of faculty members for the summer and a description of the curriculum and courses of instruction offered during this session of the school year. This course of six weeks is of benefit to teachers wanting to take advance work and to students who desire to take regular work for graduation.

The College Bulletin is a complete catalogue of all important facts in reference to the main term of the school year. Beside giving the calendar for the important events of the following year and the names and qualifications of faculty members, it gives in detail the outline and description of courses in education, in liberal arts, in science, in economics, and in commercial education. Explanations of scholarships and aids for students are given, the principles and needs of Elizabethtown College are emphasized, and such student interests as debating, contests, student associations, and student volunteers are discussed. A complete register of students of the previous year is given. The students are listed under several heads,—regular college students, special college students, those taking voice, piano, and extension work, and those enrolled in summer term, in spring normal term, and in Bible Extension work. The College has the power to confer the following degrees: Bachelor of Arts in Education, Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts, Bachelor of Science in Pure Science, Bachelor of Science in Economics, and Bachelor of Science in Commercial Education.

The Alumni Register includes items of interest to alumni. It gives the names, present occupations, and present addresses of graduates of the institution.

The Bible Institute Bulletin outlines the program for the week of the Bible Institute held during the second week of January of each year. In it are given the aims and purposes of the College in putting on a week of Bible instruction, for the College believes that spiritual development is a vital necessity in true education for service.

Chorus

Director—E. G. Meyer.

Pianist—Mrs. E. G. Meyer.

This group did not appear very often on public programs, but at the times of their appearances they presented selections of the highest type, which real music-lovers enjoy. In November they rendered a cantata entitled, "The Village Blacksmith," which was Longfellow's thought put into music. This cantata was repeated during the Bible Institute program. In December the chorus presented a Christmas cantata entitled, "The Greatest Gift." In the spring of the year they gave their dramatic cantata, which featured fourteen soloists, the rest of the group joining in the various chorus renditions. The story of Belshazzar, taken from the Bible, was portrayed very effectively. We can say in the words of Charles W. Landon: "Music is God's best gift to man, the only art of heaven given to earth, the only art of earth that we take to heaven. But music, like all our gifts, is given us in the germ. It is for us to unfold and develop it by instruction and cultivation."

Candles

During the school year 1926-1927 five of the men who were good friends decided that there should be some means by which the friendships formed at college could be perpetuated. They realized that the Alumni Associations and Clubs did this to a certain degree, but that there was nothing to especially take care of the small groups which are to be found in any college. So, desiring that their group should not become separated upon graduation, they formed a club, which they called the Candles. It was just an informal affair, but the group held several social functions and the idea became firmly imbedded in their minds that the organization was good, and they decided that those who would return the next year should continue it. These five men were Arthur Eshelman, '27, Arthur Miller, '28, Walter Thome, '29, Mark Kreider, '30, and I. Wayne Keller, '30. During the second year the membership was increased and a more permanent organization effected. The following members were elected during the school year 1927-28: Richard Jacobs, '30, Richard Strayer, '31, Benjamin Hoffman, '31, Walter Eshelman, '30, Paul Eshelman, '29, James Miller, '28, and Howard Kerr, '31. During the past school year the group felt that they would like to make the club really permanent and be recognized as a regular school organization. A constitution was drawn up by the officers, I. Wayne Keller, president, and Walter Eshelman, secretary. This was presented to the faculty with a request for recognition, but at the time of this writing no action had been taken. Five members and four pledges were elected during the year. They are Trostle Crouthamel, Ellis Reber, Harry Shonk, Harold Ebersole, Warren Angstadt, regular members; and Henry Hackman, Ammon Gibble, Lester Ketterling, and Marvin Chapman, pledges.

The interest manifested in the Student Volunteer Group shows the great desire for spiritual growth and development. Without doubt the members of this group desire to be influential in the promotion of the Kingdom of God on "College Hill."

Their work is not only that of being used in individual service on the "Hill," but also that of sending small visiting groups to various churches and rendering programs which they feel encourage and promote spiritual growth.

In the weekly meetings of this group they spend one evening in the form of discussion conducted by a member of their own group, another evening in a devotional period, and a third evening in having a member of the Faculty speak to them on some subject of vital interest. During the week of Bible Institute this group had the rare privilege of having three of the Institute speakers address them at special meetings called throughout the week. Those who presented inspiring messages were A. C. Wieand, President of Bethany Bible School, and two returned Missionaries from India, Elsie Shickel and Elder J. M. Blough.

The Volunteers were represented at the Twenty-fourth Annual Student Missionary Conference of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, held in March, at Princeton, New Jersey. Speakers from five different nations were there with stirring messages. The theme of the Conference was "The Christian Message."

Bible Institute

An outstanding week for both students and patrons of Elizabethtown College is that of Bible Institute. This year it was opened on Sunday, January 13, with an inspiring sermon by A. C. Wieand, President of Bethany Bible School, and closed on Sunday, January 20th, with a heart-stirring message by Elsie Shickel, a returned missionary from the India Field.

A very prominent speaker at this Institute was Elder M. J. Brougher, who at present is pastor of the Greensburg Church, in Pennsylvania. He presented daily talks on "Evangelism," and preached powerful sermons on these subjects: "What Is Sin?," "The Remedy For Sin," and "The Transforming Power of Christ." Other instructors were Elder J. M. Blough, a missionary to India; Elder Minor C. Myers, returned missionary from China; Mrs. S. N. McCann, returned missionary from India; Elder H. K. Ober, Pastor of the Elizabethtown Church, and Elder H. H. Nye, a member of the General Mission Board. Dr. C. C. Ellis, Vice-President of Juniata College, was the main speaker on the Saturday program. The outstanding themes of the Saturday programs were: "Christian Education of Youth," "Religion In Our Colleges," and "Our Youth Problem." Dr. Ellis addressed the Institute on the subjects: "Cultivating Conviction" and "The Youth Movement—New and Old." On Sunday afternoon "The Unfinished Task in India" was discussed by a volunteer, by a member of the Mission Board, and by a Missionary.

An important feature of this year's Bible Institute was the amount of special music. Choruses from East Fairview, Chicques, West Green Tree, Lebanon, Little Swatara, Myerstown, York, and Codorus, participated. The Acapella Male Chorus and various College groups also rendered special music. These programs were high mountain peaks in the lives of not only the students, but also the patrons and friends, who, by their frequent attendance, showed their interest and appreciation.

Religious Activities On The "Hill"

In the life of every individual there is a feeling of some supreme being. To each individual comes a time when evil is sin and good deeds are heavenly. This is only realized when the soul comes in close contact with its Maker. The Master has a plan for each person, and as the students spend their time on the Hill they cannot help but feel the greatness and goodness of God and, therefore, express their deep gratitude by worshipping the Master in spirit and in truth. The persons who can look out of their windows at nature in its fullness and see back of it all the hand of God are the only ones who really receive joy in life. This is the Christian's joy and creates such an attitude of reverence that when they pray they are truly giving adoration to the Heavenly Father.

During the year quite a number of vesper services were held on the campus, which created a very reverent atmosphere among the majority of the student body. Especially in the Spring these services were enjoyed very much by Christ's closest followers.

On the dormitory evening hall prayer meetings were held. They were short, but were a wonderful means of uniting the students in Christian fellowship and living.

Every two weeks church services were held in the college chapel on Sunday evenings. Preceding the sermon a Christian Workers' meeting was conducted by the students. This is a splendid experience for young people who are building life habits. Each student is required to attend church services each Sunday at the church of their choice. This is a splendid standard for the school, which certainly influences young lives in the right path. It is the training for the building of a stronger future in the Church of Jesus Christ.

A mid-week prayer meeting is held in chapel every week, which also is a strong religious agent on the Hill. These services were conducted in various ways, just as the one in charge decided. Students and faculty members served as leaders and arranged the programs. Often times they had students to speak or a faculty member to give a short address. Special music was frequently rendered which added to the deep meaning of the meeting.

Every morning services were conducted in the chapel, which brought the entire student body together in worship. Special music was rendered twice a week during the last semester. This added to the services. It was the general rule for a faculty member to address the student body and conduct the devotional exercises; but whenever visiting ministers appeared on the campus they led the devotions. Dr. Ober conducted the exercises once a week. The school always welcomed him with his sincere messages and his deep interest in the young people. A special program was rendered for most of the holidays. These programs showed the significant meanings of the various holidays and also gave thoughts which would lead to a deeper appreciation.

The school was very much pleased to have the Manchester College singers present a pleasing program one morning. The program was enjoyed by all and was a means of bringing the sister colleges closer together.

The religious activities of Elizabethtown College are a great influence for the students, and surely an education is never complete unless one has a knowledge of the Bible and lives close to the Master, giving in His service each moment of his life. When all is said and done, the higher things are the more important. Truly many, if not all, the students can say with Paul: "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

SOCIAL

Socials

CONVOCATION

The opening day, September 4, 1928, marked a new event in the history of Elizabethtown College. Students and patrons assembled in the college chapel to attend the Convocation exercises. Some of the special features on the program consisted of addresses by prominent men of the town and also by Rev. S. Z. Sharp, D. D., nearly 93 years of age, of Frutina, Colorado, who was visiting in this section of the country. It was a rare treat for us to hear this great educator. The College Male Quartet rendered special music. The Chamber of Commerce and ministers from town were present, and members of these groups also spoke.

In the evening a campus luncheon was served, which was enjoyed very much. From here all went to the Chapel, where everybody became better acquainted. The "Big Brothers" and "Big Sisters," who are former students, introduced their "Little Brothers" and "Little Sisters," the new students. Games were played, music was furnished by one of the Ladies' Quartettes and speeches were given by the new dean of men, Prof. Harry Mountjoy and Dr. S. Z. Sharp. Before bidding good-night to the new acquaintances all were served with refreshments.

GET-ACQUAINTED SOCIAL

This social was held on the second evening of school. Lunch was served on the campus, after which we assembled for vesper services, which were conducted by Dr. H. K. Ober. After this inspiring meeting the student body was divided into four groups, which went to visit the professors. The schedule was so arranged that each group would arrive at the various homes at different times. The homes visited were those of Professors Schlosser, Herr, Nye and Wenger. Other faculty members were distributed in the various homes, thus making it possible for the students to meet the entire faculty. We were entertained by playing games and engaging in discussions. Each group received delicious refreshments at the last home visited.

FALL OUTING

On a lovely autumn day, when nature was tinging the outdoor life, the student body and faculty journeyed to the Conewago Hills, to participate in their fall outing. It was a delightful day and while the large group was playing games the social committee started a bon fire and arranged the dinner, which everyone enjoyed.

During the day hikes were taken and others engaged in pitching quoits, taking snapshots and lounging around. All arrived on campus safely, though very fatigued with pleasant recollections of "A Perfect Day."

HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL

The chapel was decorated with gifts of nature to portray a place of ghosts. The students assembled in this room and, amid the rustling of the leaves, the judges chose the ones who were most uniquely dressed. From here they traveled to the dining room where a very delightful meal was awaiting them. During the stay in the dining room quite a number of toasts were given and also readings. The dining room was decorated in rich colors for the season.

After the meal all went back to the chapel, to play among the leaves and fodder. Many games and several contests were enjoyed. The evening festivities were closed by class stunts. All returned to their rooms rejoicing and feeling grateful to the social committee for the lovely entertainment.

—E—

VALENTINE SOCIAL

On the evening of February 14, 1929, the faculty and students assembled for an occasion of merriment. A delightful meal was served, after which games were played and Valentines were exchanged. All enjoyed the program and retired with many fond memories of the day.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES ON "THE HILL"

One of the outstanding features in favor of Elizabethtown College is the opportunity for developing the social side of one's nature. This is a distinct advantage in a small school, for in such a school each student learns to know every other student. At first these acquaintanceships are quite casual, especially between sexes, but with time and development they become rather intimate, often being the basis for life-long friendships,—whether of chums or of partners.

Spring seems to be a fine time to further promote these friendships, for with love songs in the air from birds and choruses, and shady nooks to have a tete-a-tete, it isn't easy to resist. With spring come flowers and buds on plants and trees and Nature has endowed the College and vicinity with plenty of new life and natural beauty.

The social atmosphere around the College is fostered throughout the year in various ways,—by moonlight hikes, by sleigh rides, by canoeing, and by leisurely strolling over the campus and on shaded lanes and country roads. The lake offers a splendid place for recreation in winter and in summer. Those interested in gliding over the ice on skates find their time spent valuably during a few short weeks of winter and can learn cooperation in a small way. In summer rowing and canoeing form a pleasant pastime as a relief from school work.

Due to the prevalence of a general feeling of sociability no student needs feel as an outsider to the group here at "E. C.", but rather as a necessary part of the young people's group. Democracy is a well-established principle and social standing and wealth should not serve as grounds for prejudice but all should be given an equal chance.

Besides the regular socials held by the College there are other social functions held during the year by each individual class. Another way of getting acquainted in a really practical manner is the habit of having "Open Dorm," as we call it, that is, to have the girls visit the boys' dormitory and at another specified time to have the boys visit the girls' rooms. This year the girls were the first to invite the opposite sex to visit their rooms. Each room was thoroughly cleaned and neatly arranged but the two rooms receiving the most attention in the way of new curtains, pictures and furniture were the Girls' "Y" Room and the Day Student Room. Of course, such an affair as "Open Dorm" would not have been complete without eats and the girls showed their ability in preparing and serving delicious refreshments. About a month later the boys threw open their rooms to public inspection and the girls' careful search for a speck of dirt was not rewarded by any such finding for the boys displayed the fact that women are not the only people who can wield the broom and manipulate the dust cloth. After visiting each individual room the girls were invited to the Boys' "Y" Room, on the third floor, where they were entertained by music from the Boys' R. C. A. Several checker players proved their ability in this field and soon refreshments were served in cafeteria style. This sociable attitude among the students is also found between professors and students. Students often have occasion to visit the professors in their homes and so there is plenty of opportunity outside the class-room for a teacher and his students to learn to know each other.

Each year during the first week of May we have a large number of special students coming to our town and College for a special six-weeks' course offered to teachers. The regular students try to make these Spring Normal students feel at home among them and so during the first week of the special term have a get-acquainted social on the campus. After all, it seems that the friendships made and sociability developed during College days are some of the things which cling to one throughout later life.

FOOTBALL

Resume of Football

For the first time at Elizabethtown College, a group of the men students formed a football team, although the college did not sponsor it or finance it. There being no funds available to secure an outside coach, the group interested in football elected A. W. Angstadt as coach. "Red" is a member of the junior class and played two years of football at Juniata College before coming to Elizabethtown. Walter Eshelman, an other junior, was elected manager and Benjamin Hoffman, a sophomore, acted as captain.

The team lost all five games on the schedule, scoring thirteen points to our opponents' sixty-nine.

The first practice was held in the middle of September with fifteen men reporting for the team. Most of the boys were young and lacked experience in college football but quite a few played on various high school teams. The task of developing a team was a difficult proposition and the outlook was anything but bright. The players nevertheless faced the project admirably and with a spirit that carried them through the season despite the many handicaps.

Although we did not win a game our season was nevertheless successful. First, a football team was formed for the first time and a schedule was completed; second, there were no serious injuries; third, it was successful from a financial standpoint, and the fourth, the college was advertised considerably.

The first game was played at West Chester, September 28, against the Teachers' College of that place. With only one week of practice, Elizabethtown made a creditable showing, although losing 18-0. The game was played in a sea of mud and water and all three of West Chester's touchdowns were scored on "breaks" of the game.

The following Saturday, Beckley College, of Harrisburg, was played in Elizabethtown, on the Klein Athletic field. This game was rough and hard played but the visitors crossed our goal line in the third quarter for a touchdown and extra point. Our team fought hard the last quarter and by a successful forward pass attack, succeeded in advancing the ball to our five-yard line as the whistle blew. The final score was 7-0 in favor of Beckley.

The next week was the busiest of our entire campaign. We played two games this week, one on Wednesday afternoon and one on Saturday.

On Wednesday, October 7, the team journeyed to Millersville and played Millersville State Teachers' College. Millersville beat us 18-0 but both teams were almost evenly matched. A touchdown in the early minutes of the game by an alert Millersville player seemed to take all the pep out of our players.

The second game of the week was played against Lebanon high school at Lebanon on Saturday, October 10. A large crowd witnessed the game and for a time victory looked us straight in the eye. Hoffman, our plunging halfback, scored a touchdown in the second quarter and Angstadt drop-kicked the extra point. But our lead was short lived, as Lebanon came back in the second half to tie the score and in the closing minutes of the game scored another touchdown to win, 12-6.

The last game of the season was played at Kutztown against Kutztown State Teachers' College, on October 27. Elizabethtown again held the lead, only to be overtaken and defeated by a score of 14-6. Harry Bower, our fleet-footed halfback, sprinted fifty yards to score our touchdown.

Our team was composed mostly of day students. The line players were: Houser, Barbour, Hiestand, Dick, Zarfoss, C. Wenger, Cassel, Keller, Naylor, Hackman, Heilman, Boltz and Crouthamel. Our backfield was composed of Fisher, Lauer, Blough, E. Wenger, Minnich, Hoffman and Norman Reber.

BASKETBALL

Resume of Basketball

Shortly after the close of the football season, about the middle of November, the first basketball practice was held with Ira Herr and D. E. Meyers in charge. Mr. Herr, a former student of the college and now a resident of Elizabethtown, was secured to coach the players. He had much experience in coaching high school basketball teams. He coached the powerful Elizabethtown high school team in 1925. At the first practice, Coach Herr outlined the plans for the season and put the candidates through some stiff exercises.

As the new Student-Alumni gymnasium was not completed, the first few practices were held in the old gymnasium, in the basement of Rider Hall. About fifteen reported but in a few days this number was increased to over twenty.

Coach Herr had only two men with former college experience, as a nucleus to start building his team. "Red" Angstadt played at Juniata and Clyde Wenger saw service last year with Millersville State Teachers' College.

A schedule of sixteen games was arranged, which included some of the best college teams in the East.

We made our debut in inter-collegiate competition on the night of December 8²⁸. We opened our season in a very impressive manner, as we defeated Millersville State Teachers' College in a well-played but hard-fought contest by the score of 27-22. The action was fast and furious throughout the entire contest. The blue and gray players played as if inspired and at half time were leading 19-10. The second half was more exciting than the first but our lead was too great to overcome and our entrance into college athletics was a success.

The next game, on December 13¹⁶, was played at York, against Thompson College. This game resulted in our second victory by the score of 36-24. Elizabethtown was trailing at half time, 15-14, but a last quarter rally featured the game, as ten points were scored in rapid succession. The game was played on the large White Rose Arena floor.

On Saturday, December 15, Williamson School, of Philadelphia, was played at home and we won our third straight game, 31-24. The visitors could not solve our fast-breaking offensive the first half and we trotted to the dressing room with the score standing 23-9 in our favor. The visitors started the second half with new life and soon came within tying the score but a rally in the fourth quarter assured us of victory.

The last game before the Christmas recess was played at Bethlehem against Moravian College on Tuesday afternoon, December 18. This game was a thriller from start to finish. At half time our team was leading, 14-13, but in the second half Moravian overcame a six-point lead to nose out a 34-33 victory. Elizabethtown outscored Moravian from the field, twelve goals to nine, but we were woefully weak from the foul line.

Due to work in the gymnasium, the team was forced to play its next game without any practice, which considerably handicapped the playing. This game, the first after vacation, was played at Freeland against the Freeland Mining and Mechanical Institute on January 5. The long ride seemed to affect our play during the first half and Freeland had a 20-8 lead. In the second half our team played much better and scored as many points as the other team but the lead gained in the first half was too great to overcome and as a result we were defeated, 35-24.

The next two games were played on a trip to Virginia and Maryland. Bridgewater College was played at Bridgewater, Virginia, on January 8. In the first half of this game Elizabethtown held Bridgewater to a lone field goal while scoring thirteen points herself. In the second half Bridgewater overcame this nine-point lead to nose out a close victory by the score of 25-23.

The following night Washington College was played at Chestertown, Maryland. Although our team played well, it could not cope with the speedy offense of the flying Pentagons. As a result Washington scored its eighth consecutive victory, 38-17. Washington College has one of the best teams in the East, as their record will testify. They have won the Maryland State Championship for three successive years. On their northern trip this year, they defeated Juniata, Susquehanna University and Schuylkill on successive nights.

Two days later, on January 11, American University was played in Washington, D. C., before a large crowd. The Blue and Gray tossers played exceptionally fine ball and at half time American University was leading by only six points—22-16. The second half saw our defense weakened considerably as Hackman and Bower were forced to leave the game because of personal fouls. The result was an avalanche of field goals by the "lanky" Capital City tossers and the game ended with Elizabethtown on the short end of 46-28 score.

On Saturday, January 12, East Stroudsburg Teachers' College invaded the local court and carried off the bacon in a poorly-played contest. The strenuous southern trip made a telling effect on our players and the result was that the visitors went home with an easy victory, 53-34. The visitors were well supplied with big men and they played a fast brand of basketball.

The team made another short trip, this time to Baltimore on January 18, and played the University of Baltimore before the largest crowd of the season. Over three thousand persons attended this game. The game was played at Carlin's Arena and the floor was of enormous size. Our team flashed a dazzling offensive the first half and played almost on even terms with the tall Baltimore players. But the second half was a different story as Baltimore sank field goals from all angles and directions. The final score was 43-20 in Baltimore's favor.

On Tuesday, January 22, we played the National Farm School at Elizabethtown. Our team turned in a hard-fought victory and also halted our long losing streak, which had reached six straight. The score was 40-32. This game was fast and well-played throughout. At half time we were leading 20-16.

On February 2, 1929, our basketceers journeyed to Millersville with high hopes of repeating the feat accomplished in the first game with them, but things did not break our way. After most of the regular squad had been ejected from the game, Millersville rolled up enough of points to assure them of victory. The score at the end of the game was: Millersville 44, Elizabethtown 22.

The boys from Freeland visited us on February 9, 1929, and defeated our team only after a terrific uphill battle. The outcome of the game was not certain until the final whistle had blown. The score was 42-40.

Blue Ridge College, Maryland, invaded our territory on February 15, 1929, and met defeat after a very interesting game. At half time the score was deadlocked but the last half rally proved too much for our rivals and at the end of the game we stood at the long end of the scoring. The final score was 57-35.

The future doctors from Philadelphia visited us on February 21, 1929, with a very clever shooting combination. They made many long shots, which spelled defeat for our team. The final score was 40-26.

The State Teachers' College champions from Mansfield met and defeated our team only after a hard struggle on March 1, 1929. The teams seemed evenly matched during the first period of play, but the last half spurt meant defeat for E-town College. The final score was 43-24.

The last game of the season, with West Chester, March 18, 1929, proved to be a real thriller. With the score-book showing only two points difference and seconds to play, one of the forwards took a long shot and the crowd gasped only to see the ball roll around the rim and drop out. They won with the score 30-28.

Our Men

A. WARREN ANGSTADT

Guard—Forward

"Red" had more experience than any of the other players on the team and besides leading the team in points scored, he played an impenetrable guarding game. His dribbling resulted in many field goals. Teamwork and a thorough knowledge of the game were his contributions to the team. "Red" came to us from Juniata College, where he was a three-sport man. He also arranged the schedule.

HENRY HACKMAN

Guard

"Hack" came to us from Rothsville high school. He was another player who was not moved from his favorite position. Although not scoring many points "Hack" specialized in scoring in tight and unexpected moments. Pot shots and tight guarding was "Hack's" contribution to the team.

IRA HERR, Coach

HENRY BLOUGH

Forward

"Henny" was one of the few players who was not shifted from his position. He always played a steady game and could be depended upon to do some scoring. Blough came to us from Franklin and Marshall College, and was a member of the freshman class.

EARL WENGER

Forward

This lad always played a spectacular game. He specialized in shooting long shots, which generally found their mark. Earl ranked among the highest in scoring. His alert floor game enabled the team to seize many opportunities for scoring. Earl is a member of the freshman class.

TROSTLE CROUTHAMEL

Center

"Crouty" was the tallest man on the squad and he used his height to good advantage although he did not have much experience. The students well remember the game "Crouty" played against Millersville Teachers' College. He is a sophomore and will be with us for two more years.

CLYDE WENGER

Center—Guard

Being the biggest man on the team, Clyde was always in his glory when the "going" was the roughest. He was one of the few who had previous college experience, and against the strongest teams Clyde played best. His defensive and offensive ability was on a par with the best. Last year Clyde represented Millersville Teachers' College.

HAROLD EBERSOLE, Manager

SAMUEL ZARFOSS

Guard—Forward

"Sammy" always made things unpleasant for his opponents. He was either in their way or else scoring a field goal. "Sammy" served the purpose of a shock troop and he did it admirably. His guarding ability was above the average and he succeeded in caging an occasional field goal.

HARRY BOWER

Forward—Guard

Playing guard and forward with equal ability, Harry always made his presence felt in a contest. His occasional spurts toward the goal generally resulted in two points. Although small in stature, he played a hard game with teamwork uppermost in his mind. Harry is a junior and came from Juniata.

Girls' Varsity Basketball Team, 1928-'29

HARRY BOWER, Coach — ERMA HERSHEY, Manager

Our team is the first girls' varsity team in the annals of Elizabethtown athletic events. Though we didn't close the season with overwhelming victories, neither did we succumb hopelessly to our more experienced rivals. It was hard digging through all obstructions but since this team has taken the initial step, the next steps will be far more easy. Our practice was done in a few weeks' time and made many startling improvements. Though we worked hard we could not hold sway in the two matches with our rivals of Schuylkill College of Reading. The first fray in the "gym" was well-played and hard fought. Our opponents rallied with a 34-17 victory. A few weeks later we journeyed to Reading and met Schuylkill on the Armory court. Again our opponents conquered us with a 27-14 lead. Though we did not rally in scores, our games were won morally. Our team was complimented on its fair play, and a true sport's attitude was manifested throughout all the skirmishes. Our team members cooperated in performing good team-work, each doing her bit willingly.

Our Coach

To our coach, Harry Bower, we owe the team's success because of the training he gave us. "Bower" is much interested in athletics, and we join in wishing him much success in his future athletic undertakings.

Our Captain

EVELYN SPRENKLE, Captain '28-'29

"Sprenkle" is our center and we feel sure a better one could not be found any where. She knows just how and when to hit the ball and she surely can baffle her opponents. "Sprenkle" has two years to spend at E. C., and we sincerely hope she will be a starring member of next year's squad.

CARRIE SMITH

"Smitty," our side center, is not tall but she surely can fight. She is so quick that her opponents seldom have a chance to get the ball once she has laid hands on it. The team will feel that it has lost a very vital part of its fighting aggregation when it loses "Smitty."

JESSIE WOODWARD

"Jessie," a Sophomore, is our veteran guard. She does play a good defense game. She is the one who helps to keep the opponents from running up a score on us. We feel that "Jessie" will be a big part of future victorious teams on the Hill.

MAE HUFF

"Huff" is another who holds the important position of guard. Her passing is quick and accurate and she possesses very promising guarding ability. Though "Huff" is a Frosh, we feel sure she will improve and defend the Grey and Blue of her Alma Mater.

IRENE ROYER

"Royer" is our dependable forward. She has not shirked her duty at the scoring position. Though her shots didn't always mean points, she made up for it in shooting fouls. She has shown her ability to shoot a goal guarded by the best of guards. Fight on for the team, "Royer," and E. C. will hold a conspicuous place on the map.

EVA BOLLINGER

"Eva" is another forward who helped the score to go up. Her quick pass work and cooperation have been determining factors in the games. Keep up your good cooperative spirit, "Eva," and you will possess a thing worth the striving.

OUR "SUBS"

A team is never complete without its "subs." Esther Baker, Floy Schlosser, Fanny Ruth Heisey and Elsie Ziegler were capable of taking up the play where the "regulars" left off, and met their difficulties bravely, struggling through opposing barriers.

TENNIS

Team of 1928

In 1928 Elizabethtown College made her debut in inter-collegiate athletics when a tennis team was selected and sent out to match its strength and agility against that of several of the neighboring colleges. In the way of victories the season was not so successful, but it was a beginning, opening the way for a more extensive schedule this year. Other players were also attracted to the college, and all indications point to a very successful season.

The most likely candidates for the team this year are "Red" Angstadt, formerly of Juniata, who as a player on their team swept everything before him. He also holds several county championships. Then there are the Wengers, Clyde and Earl. Both are experienced and flashy players, and when playing against each other there is always doubt as to who will be the victor until the last ball is served. Wilbur Beahm, first man on the team of last year, is back, and will certainly land a place on the team of this year. "Henny" Blough, who played for F. and M., always plays a fast, hard game and is a likely candidate. Another steady player is Marlin Kaylor, who played last year, and has for several years played on the town team. "Ben" Hoffman, "Trot" Crouthamel, and "Bud" Cassel, also of last year's team, will give some stiff competition to all candidates for the team and some, at least, of these three should land a place on the squad.

With this array of excellent material, the following strong schedule has been arranged:

April 27	Juniata,	Huntingdon, Pa.
" 30	Lebanon Valley,	Annville, Pa.
May 6	Muhlenburg,	Home
" 10	Susquehanna,	Home
" 11	University of Baltimore,	Home
" 15	Susquehanna,	Selinsgrove, Pa.
" 17	Moravian,	Bethlehem, Pa.
" 20	Juniata,	Home
" 25	Lebanon Valley,	Home

BASEBALL

Team of 1928

Baseball is one sport which stopped as an inter-collegiate activity almost as soon as it began. During the 1928 season the college had a team on the diamond for the first time. This group played several games and successfully inaugurated the sport, if they were not so successful in the way of victories.

This year, however, there will be no intercollegiate competition, due mostly to the fact that it is hard to financially support a baseball team at a small college. This will not mean that no baseball will be played at the college, however, for an inter-class league has been formed. It is also probable that some of the fellows may form a team and play other schools in an unofficial way.

TRACK

Track Meets Planned

This year Elizabethtown College will make her debut on the cinder path and on the field, for a track team has been moulded into shape that will compare favorably with many of our rivals. In addition to the inter-collegiate meets there will be an intra-mural meet on April 26. This will serve as a sort of a preliminary tryout for the team to represent the college in the meets that have been scheduled for this year.

The schedule at the time of this writing was not completed, but it was thought that at the most there would be four meets, three dual and then the conference meet. Those definitely scheduled are a dual meet with Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove, on May 4, and a dual meet with Williamson Trade School, of Philadelphia, at Elizabethtown, on May 18.

The events in which the college will participate, and which will be on the docket of the dual meets are: the hundred, two-hundred, four-hundred, and eight-hundred dashes; the mile and two-mile runs; the one-hundred high hurdles, the two-hundred low hurdles; and on the field the shot put, discus, javelin, high jump, broad jump, and the pole vault.

The prospects for a successful season are good, if the material available is any criterion for judging. First, there is Bower, whose fleet-footedness is well remembered from his freshman year, when he ran away with everything. He will be entered in the dashes and the broad jump. Then, there is Reber, a speedy distance man, who is also good on the dashes. If he hits his stride he should win some places for E-town. Angstadt, who tossed the weights at Juniata, will be entered in the same events for Elizabethtown and has already shown fine form. Hoffman and Fisher, two football men, will also put their brawn back of the weights in an endeavor to place for the college. Thome is a candidate for the high jump. He has won first place in several of the intra-mural meets. Kerr and Crouthamel will try for the dashes and the javelin throw. In addition to these older students there are several fellows who showed up well in high school competition and will try to do the same for the college this year. Zarfoss will try the dashes, and Barbour the dashes and hurdles. Chapman and Schantz will enter the distance runs and Hiestand will try his legs in the high jump.

DEDICATION

Griff

To our worthy janitor whose versatility as depicted in his thoroughly practical pursuits, consisting of the provision of a temperature within these learned halls that will be conducive to optimum activity of the student encephalon, and to him whose copious criticism and prophetic foresight in all fields has been the inspiration of the editor of this section, this space is affectionately dedicated.

WIT and Humor

Prof. Schlosser: And the Apostle Paul, like what was he?
Galen Kilhelfner: He was much like an American.

Chemistry Prof.: What is the best solvent for gold?
Married Student: Matrimony.

Prof. Nyc: Who gets the benefit of a new fashion in dress?
W. W. Eshelman: Sometimes both.

Dr. Merrells: Well, Mr. Fuhrman, "then you were not an average college freshman"—in commenting upon his professed economy.
Mr. Fuhrman: "I know that."

Would-be Author: So you like my book. What part do you particularly like?
Miss Innocent: Oh, I think those quotations from Longfellow are splendid!

Prof. Nyc: The Big Four at Paris were Clemenceau, Lloyd George, Wilson and Orlando, and the greatest of these was Wilson.

"Why doesn't Jimmy Good Credit buy a home? He's been married at least ten years."
"I understand he hasn't got through paying for the engagement ring yet."

Democratic Husband: Do you know what kind of socks Hoover wears?
Republican Wife (indignantly): No! Why should I know about his socks?
Democratic Husband: You were one of his supporters, weren't you?

Illinois paper:—John I. Tilson, eastern director of the Republican speakers' bureau, announced that he had received information from the Dunkards in Ohio that all of the 200,000 Drunkards in U. S. had decided to vote for Hoover.

Minister: Well, my little fellow, do you always do as mamma tells you?
Little Boy: You bet I do, and so does papa.

John: I like to kiss a girl who hasn't much rouge on her lips.
Jack: Not me! I like to get there before the other fellow.

Prof. ———: Are you satisfied with the discussion?
Student: I must be.
Prof. ———: No, you must not.
Student: Well, I don't want to delay the class any longer.

Prof. Schlosser: We are now ready for your report.
Mr. Frysinger: I have a lot of material here but do not know whether it's worth anything.

Dr. Merrells: And he was enraptured by the appearance of the dog.

Interpreting Left Arm Signals

The following ten possible interpretations of the left arm signals as given by most auto drivers were enumerated by C. C. Janes, of the Ohio State Automobile Association, before the annual Safety Congress in New York:

1. He is going to turn to the left.
2. He is knocking the ashes off his cigar.
3. He is going to turn to the right.
4. He is waving at a friend.
5. He is going to pass the car ahead.
6. He is feeling for raindrops.
7. He is going to slow down.
8. He is pointing out something interesting.
9. He is going to stop.
10. He is arguing with the wife or kids.

"Excuse It, Please!"

They tell a story in Washington about a certain legislator noted for his ready wit. One day while in conversation with an official of the local telephone company the latter mentioned that he knew of a young woman who wanted to get a job as secretary on "The Hill," as the Capitol is known.

"I'm sorry, but I don't know of anything," the solon advised, but, as an afterthought: "Why don't you give her a job yourself—in your Wrong Number department!"

Senior Life

A MENTAL MEANDERING

of the Editor

'Twas a clear summer night, and outside the stars were twinkling brightly, the new moon shone through the window and dimly illuminated the room with its silvery beams. The room was dark, save for a small candle at the far end, which vainly tried to penetrate the darkness with its tiny ray of light. There were two people in the room. The influence of the time was upon them, and they drew closer together. Still closer and closer until the vague shadows of their bodies seemed almost to blend into one. Silence! Let us listen. Yes, one is speaking, whispering in that strange singular tone. The other draws still nearer, drinking in the words of his engrossing partner. What are they saying? As, yes, now we hear the words, "Yes, Mr. Gross," Madame Zenzie, the spiritualist, is saying, "I can recall the spirits of all of your classmates and let you learn of their lives. Hark, they are coming."

"I am the ghost of Mervin Brandt. I come from a foreign land where I formerly had my abode." Spiteew. "Darn this tobacco I borrowed from Belzubub. Well, any way, since I must be disturbed I'll let 'er rip. After graduating from E-town I taught in Mt. Joy for a few years. Then came the eventful year of 1938, when the Legion held their convention in Paris. Dr. Grier insisted that I accompany him at his expense, since he got his bonus for ten years of teaching at E-town. Soon after we arrived the nation was shocked by the death of Paul Poret. Yes, he died suddenly; he saw one of his latest creations on the streets before he expected it and the shock killed him. In the midst of their grief they sought for another to take his place. A French girl, whose petticoat I mended during the war, saw me and remembered my creative ability,—peteeew—recommended me and I was offered the job. As it was much more attractive and interesting than teaching, I accepted. There is little else to tell, just one thing after another until I finally reached my present status.—Spiteew—" and he was gone.

"He, he, ha, ha, ha, ha." Ah, yes, Roscoe Thome. "Ha, ha, that's a hot one. St. Peter lost his keys and can't let Beahm in. Ha, ha, ha. What, just like Gross, always interrupting a good laugh. Yes, I, too, was successful. After I graduated from medical school I returned to Elizabethtown, and just after I passed the campus on the road to Milton Grove I saw a sick pig in the field. I pitied Professor Rose, for I was afraid it might die and fall into the hands of certain people's children who had inherited some of the traits of their parents, so I stopped and operated upon it. A farmer saw me and asked me to do his butchering and my medical school training had fitted me so well that I was kept busy ever after butchering for the Lancaster County farmers."

"Well, let's sit around awhile. Here I am between two opinions again. No rest even after death. Ever since I had to choose between the lesser of two evils in my senior year I have been in this state. Well, my music lessons will just have to wait awhile. I didn't amount to much. As political reformer in Milton Grove I feel that my life has been wasted, but I've done the best that any man could who had a wife and twelve children, and now I have been sent here for some rest." "Who was that?" asked Gross. "That, why that was Beahm, the shining light of your class; poor fellow, his charm was lost through hard work."

"Say, fellows, I'm going to have me a date." Yes, yes, thought Gross, no other than Eshelman; he certainly will unfold a tale of the opera and concert stage. "No, I was not famous. True, I sold more fish than any of the other peddlers, yet I can not say I achieved fame. I first failed in opera and then after repeated failures as train announcer, junk dealer, and paper boy I had to use my voice in selling fish to make a living."

"I had trouble with the next spirit, she refuses to answer," said Madame. "It is Elizabeth Gintzer, and she is arguing against evolution with Mary Bixler. Mary insists that Dr. Grier firmly established the doctrine and she will hold to it despite what is said." We will have to pass them by.

"And I am Earl Cassel. I died of lumbago contracted while picking up paper in Long's park—my chosen occupation. I was too small to make a good school teacher, and so because I was short I got this job. I could do it faster than any other because I didn't have to stoop so far. My life story is brief, and I depart."

"Well," thought Mr. Gross, "the other of the Cassels will have a story of fame and fortune, let us listen." "And then the rabbit ran after the nice, big turnip, but it rolled and rolled and—oh, yes, my life history. It is simple. I married after graduation and my love for children led me to become a writer of children's stories. Of course, I was happy; now let me return to my musings and reminiscences."

"And my story is short," said the voice of Jimmy Ebright. "The cannibals ate me when I made my first missionary journey into the wilds of Australia. That is all."

"As in life, so in death, we travel together. We haunt the darkened rooms of E-town's noble halls, where behind closed doors couples are won't to linger. But we scare them! We chase them! We make their blood run cold. No one will break our endurance records." Certainly none other than Fuhrman and Frysinger.

"Hooss! Hooss!" Is it possible, not Dorothy Hamilton? "None other. Yes, I spent my life on the farm. I enjoyed the cows and chickens. I can not complain."

"There's a rainbow round my shoulder—" Hail to the toast of Broadway, Mary Kreider. "I found the teaching profession too dull so I became a maid of a prominent actress. One night she became ill and I took her part. After that my success was assured."

"And now I shall recall May Strayer and Ruth Nedrow." "Hi, Wes, yea this is Ned. Sure I ran an orphanage. I had forty of the little sinners in my school, so I thought I might as well take a few more and have them all the time. I thought then I could improve them, but kids is kids. Well, it was a lot of fun, anyway. Here, May, tell 'em about your old folks' home. No? Well, then don't, but May did have an old folks' home, and she ran it swell, too. So long."

"It is impossible to get a move out of the next one on your list. Risser spent his time "just hangin' around" and now, as in school, he seldom answers." "I'll try Rosa Schwartz; yes, here she is." "Song and dance were my life work. I entered the "Vanities" soon after graduation, and with what I saved from my salary and gifts I was soon able to retire. I spent my declining years in May Strayer's home."

Now Minnich. "Permanent? No, just a marcel. All right. Oh, howdy, yes, I was a hair dresser. My aesthetic tastes would naturally attract me to some such field. You see I had plenty of practice while still in college in curling my room-mates' hair."

"I can not get in close touch with the last two on this list. Adeline Weaver is forever talking and can not be interrupted, while no medium has ever been able to break through Miller's silence. Yes, the fee is five thousand dollars. Thank you."

"Humm, mused Gross, as he returned to the White House, I don't believe I would trade with any of them. I am satisfied with being gardner here.

Calendar

- Sept. 4. Big Sisters and Big Brothers effected an early arrival in order to bestow due attention upon their tender charges, whose first appearance on the Hill was attended by some misgivings.
- Sept. 5. The student body, divided into four groups, made a circuit visiting the homes of as many professors. While, needless to say, all were delightfully entertained, this visit tended to disprove the traditional plea of the college professor's poverty.
- Sept. 6. A paradox: That which today was commenced in enthusiasm and perhaps wild delight will in the next month of January inevitably end quite seriously.
- Sept. 7. Enrollment is completed.
- Sept. 8. All schedules are finally arranged.
- Sept. 10. Upper classmen are taking advantage of the large variety of Freshman debutantes.
- Sept. 12. First group pictures for the E-tonian are taken, following Chapel.
- Sept. 14. Professor Schlosser requests more reverence of the Chapel assembly.
- Sept. 16. She whose arrival was exceeded in fond anticipation only by her departure, today made known her presence.
- Sept. 18. In order to insure the enforcement of the Freshman regulations, a Senior-Junior Tribunal was elected. They will supplement the activity of the Sophomores by comprising the judiciary, division of the enforcement machinery.
- Sept. 20. Following dinner the gentlemen, acting in accord with a previous announcement, repaired to Room E, where, under the presidency of the head of the dining room, very exhaustive plans were formulated for the improvement of the things as well as the people generally associated with a dining room.
- Sept. 21. Verily a record-breaking day was noted in the class of American History. A pedestrian, according to Miss Geist, traversed 520 miles in one day. According to Norman Reber, Buffalo Bill killed 4,200 buffaloes in one day.
- Sept. 22. All students interested in debating met in Room C to organize the debating association.
- Sept. 24. Professor Rose is sorely vexed by the conduct of certain day students in his "elite" German classes.
- Sept. 26. Football practice is in full swing.
- Sept. 28. The editor, I. Wayne Keller, announces that the E-tonian will be ready for circulation by January 1st the next.
- Sept. 29. A football squad representing E-town College in an unofficial way, after two weeks of training directed by a fellow-member and player, sallied forth in a way which savored of audacity, and, to the surprise of the most sanguine optimists, the Blue and Gray eleven held the crack West Chester Teachers' combine to 18-0.
- Oct. 1. Freshman regulations went into effect.
- Oct. 2. Impudent Frosh flagrantly display their ignorance by insolent interrogation of some members of the Senior-Junior Tribunal. Where reason fails it be replaced by more coercive measures.
- Oct. 3. After prolonged absence without "official permission" the dean again puts in her appearance in the dining room.
- Oct. 4. Beahn, apparelled as a woman and escorted by Don Quixote Hoffman, conducted himself in such a manner as to evoke the following statement from the rather easily abashed spinster, "And they were embracing and kissing furiously."

Sophomores, One and All

- Oct. 6. The E-town eleven is narrowly defeated by the Beckley professionals on Klein's Field.
- Oct. 8. Nature's fading green has quite appropriately been replaced by that quality of greenness which is making itself manifest from the top of the scantily filled heads of the male Freshmen.
- Oct. 10. The Millersville Teachers successfully overcame the crippled Blue and Gray eleven.
- Oct. 12. The local Y. M. C. A. is represented at the Student-Faculty Conference convened at Franklin and Marshall College, in Lancaster.
- Oct. 15. A rather unsuccessful meeting of the girls, over which the Dean was president, followed by a more successful mass meeting, not in Fanuel Hall, but in Alpha Hall. We all remember the cause of the provocation.
- Oct. 17. The College Freshman is not only subject to special regulations but bullets as well. Wayne Reber, while executing activity in regard to one of the threefold phases of his life, was unaccountably wounded by a bullet. This, while circling the athletic field within a stone's throw of the College buildings.
- Oct. 22. It was with no little regret and sorrow that President Schlosser was obliged to announce the resignation of Dr. Merrells.
- Oct. 24. The Men's Student Council, after a prolonged period of inactivity, commence to dispose of some very serious business.
- Oct. 26. Arbor Day was duly observed. As customary, the program was controlled by the Seniors. Planting of the tree was preceded by a very timely address by a State Forester.
- Oct. 27. Students enrolled in the Social Science Department directed by Professor Nye, were privileged in visiting and observing the various public and private institutions in Lancaster for the detention of dependents.
- Oct. 31. The light-giving organization on the Hill, in the character of the Candles, held a banquet at Chef's place, near Annville.
- Oct. 31. The Hallowe'en Social, attended by students as well as faculty members, was held in the Chapel.
- Nov. 1. The opening day of the game season for the greater portion of game in Pennsylvania finds many of the male students assuming the role of nimrods.
- Nov. 2. The program rendered by the Cordova concertiers marked the opening of the Lyceum Course.
- Nov. 3. For date-mongers the activities of a strenuous week are climaxed by a program presented in Chapel by the Zimmer Harp Trio.
- Nov. 5. The first day of Education Week was observed by an address by Professor Nye upon the main issues of the presidential campaign.
- Nov. 6. Preparatory to a poll of the student vote, Professor Schlosser addressed the Chapel assembly upon "The Ideals of a Democracy."

Carpenters are called in to repair doorway which was accidentally enlarged when Keller attempted an exit after drinking two gallons of cider.

The day has at length come when many speculations shall be nullified or verified. The average college student looks at it from the viewpoint of more beer and bigger pretzels.

E-town College students, however, are not the average in this respect. A student audience, therefore, which is hopelessly prejudiced, throngs the Y Room, listening to poll returns as received via the radio.

After the returns are unquestionably decisive, favorable to the Western Engineer, some of the more hopelessly pious retire and, amid profuse thanks to the Almighty that these blessed United States have been saved from the presidency of a ? ? ?, finally succumb to somnolence.

- Nov. 7. Another feature in the observation of Education Week consisted of an elaboration upon the theme of "Courtesy" by Professor Musick. He complimented the students of E-town College for their unparalleled politeness.
- Nov. 8. A sound mind in a sound body was the keynote to an address by Professor D. E. Meyers.
- Nov. 9. Dr. H. K. Ober completed the program for Education Week by speaking to the Chapel assembly on "Christianity and Education."
- Nov. 12. Observance of the Armistice was most strikingly neglected.
- Nov. 13. The twenty-eight anniversary of the founding of the College was celebrated by a Founder's Day program. Dr. Ziegler, alumnus and son of the president of the first board of trustees, featured the program by an address.
Basketball practice is begun despite the fact that the gym is not yet completed.
- Nov. 14. Mid-week prayer meeting duly observed.
- Nov. 16. Oyster soup was served at luncheon. A note of instructions to the head of each table read as follows: "Serve only two oysters to each individual,"—but Keller got eighteen.
- Nov. 17. A surprisingly large percentage of the male boarding students survived the impulse to return home over the week-end.
- Nov. 18. "These are the days that try men's souls."
- Nov. 19. Riley Scott, the wandering poet from Kentucky, reads some of his poetry to the students, and later offers it for sale. He is responsible for the presence in many rooms of a poster bearing the following inscription, "An Arab can live entirely on dates but a college student can't."
- Nov. 20. The "men" remain after Chapel to discuss Freshman regulations. The latter make much ado about nothing.
- Nov. 21. Debating tryouts for ladies and gentlemen are conducted before three infallible judges.
- Nov. 22. The administration dispenses with supper, due to the serving of an informal repast by the girls in connection with their "Open Dorm."
- Nov. 23. "The Biography of a Boy" is the subject of a lecture by Bishop Hughes.
- Nov. 24. The Gymnasium Auditorium is nearing completion, but not as rapidly as it should for practical purposes.
- Nov. 26. Thanksgiving is observed at a most early day; inasmuch as a banquet makes possible its observation.
- Nov. 28. Efficiency in the classroom was at a low ebb. Reason: Thanksgiving recess began at 4.00 P. M.
- Dec. 1. The President, in company with other members of the faculty attended a conference of Eastern Colleges, in Atlantic City.
- Dec. 2. The more ambitious students who have already returned from their brief vacation make an informal raid on the kitchen in order to relieve their gastronomic yearnings.
- Dec. 3. After a short session of Epicurean festivity most of the students have again returned to assume a more stoical attitude.
- Dec. 4. The Alumni Gymnasium is available for basketball practice.
- Dec. 6. The Juniors, who are poverty stricken in everything save in respect to dignity, had their first social function for the school year in the nature of a poverty party.
- Dec. 7. More students remaining over the week-end than any previous time. Explanation: a basketball game on Saturday evening.

- Dec. 8. The entrance of E-town into intercollegiate basketball is a realized goal when President Schlosser, on the home floor, tosses the ball into the air, marking the beginning of a fray with Millersville. The local passers were triumphant to the tune of 27-22.
- Dec. 11. The male inhabitants of the Fairview apartments extended an invitation to the girls, in particular, to make an inspection of their rooms.
- Dec. 12. Freshmen have first social. Boarding student freshmen report unsolicited renovations of their rooms while they are attending the social.
- Dec. 13. The hibernation of man's student council is interrupted.
Elizabethtown's little five easily vanquished the Thompson Business School in a game on the latter's court.
- Dec. 14. The Hoxter Jubilee Singers, of Philadelphia, rendered a program in Chapel under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A.
- Dec. 15. A defeat of the Williamson Trade Quintette marks the third consecutive victory for E-town.
- Dec. 17. The absence of some professors results in a most undesirable deluge of theme assignments.
- Dec. 18. Dr. Grier, professor of biology, entertained the biology students in a Biology Social in the Science Building.
- Dec. 19. Everybody wished everybody else a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and departed for home.
- Jan. 2. Students return with a most cumbersome burden of New Year resolutions.
- Jan. 3. A roll call proved to be so nearly perfect that any idea of closing school because of the flu epidemic was immediately banished.
- Jan. 4. The Music Department sponsored a program given in Chapel.
- Jan. 5. Professor Rose breaks New Year resolution not to stutter when Miss Bowman offers him a ride in her flashy Chevrolet.
- Jan. 7. The business manager announces the beginning of the E-tonian subscription contest following a description of the uniquely superior year book by the editor.
- Jan. 8. Bridgewater, our sister college in the sunny South, overcomes the Elizabethtown passers by a lead of only one point.
- Jan. 9. Posting of schedule of Mid-year "exams" occasions some disquietude.
- Jan. 10. College economizes time by a gradual enrollment system for the second semester.
- Jan. 11. Judge Bale, of Columbus, Ohio, gives a heartening lecture on the "World's Citizens Tomorrow."
- Jan. 12. The Blue and Gray climax a strenuous week of basketball when they lose to the East Stroudsburg Teachers in a game on the home floor.
- Jan. 13. Bible Institute, an annual feature, opens this morning.
- Jan. 14. The darkest hour is just before the dawn. Tomorrow shall witness the dawn of mid-year.
- Jan. 15. Frenzied students about to take exams, interspersed by proteges of piety, constitute a quite motely mob.
- Jan. 16. Some few students whose pathway is always strewn with the fruits of good fortune were favored by an early termination of exams.
- Jan. 17. A city set upon a hill-top cannot be hidden. The same apparently applies to a College. More pilgrims of the Most Holy Faith are constantly arriving to appease their spiritual yearnings.
- Jan. 18. The University of Baltimore proves to be more than a match for the local players.

- Jan. 19. Dr. C. C. Ellis addressed the Bible Institute audience upon the "Youth Movement."
- Jan. 20. Parents of students are well represented on College Hill. Everybody goes to Sunday School and Church.
- Jan. 21. These sacred halls are almost deserted.
- Jan. 22. "His Chosen People's" Basketball team, representing the National Farm School, of Doylestown, were defeated by "His less-favored proteges" of Elizabethtown.
- Jan. 23. The return of Miss Bond as Assistant Professor of Education is announced.
- Jan. 24. Officers of the College Times staff are elected. The editor is re-elected.
- Jan. 25. A new student council is elected. This organization is now entirely indispensable.
- Jan. 28. Professor Nye presided at a special meeting of the W. C. T. U., in Moos Hall.
- Jan. 29. The sophisticated Sophomores bow to the Juniors in a cage tilt.
- Jan. 30. Miss Caow, National Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, addressed the students in Chapel.
- Feb. 1. The Radio's was duly removed from the Y. M. C. A. without any notice whatsoever.
- Feb. 4. Much dissatisfaction is manifesting itself on the part of the student body relative to certain undesirable conditions.
- Feb. 5. The student body discusses inter-collegiate athletics. A committee is appointed to frame a student policy of inter-collegiate athletics.
- Feb. 6. The faculty assembles to discuss serious business.
- Feb. 8. A fine grade of music is produced by the Tolefsen Trio, a Lyceum number.
- Feb. 9. E-town loses by the narrow margin of one field goal after a home game with the Freeland Miners.
- Feb. 13. Professor Rose is delighted with the contents of the College Times.
- Feb. 14. The hearts of many students are revived.
- Feb. 15. The Blue and Gray turn the tables on their sister College of Maryland when the E-town quintette vanquishes the Blue Ridge five.
- Feb. 18. While most Mondays are blue this one was particularly blue. Professors were fatigued from much sermonizing on the previous day.
- Feb. 22. The Mulvaney Concert Party is the final feature appearing in connection with the Lyceum Course.
- Feb. 23. The Men's Debating team engaged in heated controversy with the forensic experts representing Western Maryland College, resulting in a double victory for E-town.
- Feb. 25. The circulation manager of the College Times outlined a subscription contest, which is open to all students.
- Feb. 26. Juniata's sophists out talk E-town's affirmative 2-1. But our negative triumphs 3-0.
- Mar. 1. E-town met the Mansfield Teachers on the local court. Not so good.
- Mar. 3. Some of the gentlemen occupants of Fairview apartments were somewhat reluctant in complying with the observation of "quiet hour."
- Mar. 5. John Hodges, former student of this college, addresses the Chapel assembly on "Elizabethtown College, Past and Present."
- Mar. 8. The Music Department sponsored a Music Recital. A pleasing program was presented in the chapel.

- Mar. 11. Some students who failed to satisfactorily discharge their financial obligations at the office were instructed to read a certain section of the catalogue.
- Mar. 14. The East meets the West when the Hillsdale College debaters of Michigan match wits with the practical sophists of our own college.
- Mar. 16. The final basketball tilt of the season. E-town clashes with West Chester.
- Mar. 18. Mid-semester reports are due, also some surprises.
- Mar. 21. From this day forth we shall again fondly anticipate the reappearance of the verdant green.
- Mar. 23. The end of the basketball season is accompanied by a rather unnaturally large homeward exodus of male boarding students.
- Mar. 26. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."
- Mar. 27. Easter holidays begin.
- Mar. 30. From March we march to April.
- April 1. Observance of the April Fool tradition afforded an opportunity for the expression of Collegiate sophistication.
- April 2. Some of the more independent students have already returned.
- April 3. Easter holidays end.
- April 4. The Y. M. C. A. sponsored a lecture particularly designed for the enlightenment of male students.
- April 5. Dr. Ober is in charge of Chapel exercises.
- April 8. Professor Martinez is in a quandary. How shall he indulge the affections of his attractive co-ed students and still maintain his dignity as a professor?
- April 12. The Elizabeth Myer Extempore Speaking Contest was held in the Chapel.
- April 15. Harry Stehman, confronted by a host of female admirers, is at a loss as to making a definite decision.
- April 17. Baseball practice is in full swing.
- April 19. Seniors are actively engaged in daily play rehearsal.
- April 22. The girls remain after Chapel to receive some "general information" from the Dean.
- April 29. Spring Normal session opens.
- April 30. The campus is alive with the presence of many additional students.
- May 1. The end is now in sight, for some quite uncomfortably near.
- May 3. Many are the secrets which some of the spreading mails might divulge were it not impossible for them to speak.
- May 6. Beahm is elated at the prospect of spending a moonlight night in Walter Eshelman's sport touring counting the stars, while not otherwise engaged.
- May 8. President Schlosser speaks a word of encouragement to those who are particularly inclined to the seasonal malady—spring fever.
- May 10. The Annual Field Day is held on the athletic field.
- May 13. Certain freshmen congratulate themselves upon their success in "adhering" to the college as long as they did.
- May 15. Final examinations for Seniors begin.
- May 18. Under-graduate toils are no longer a matter of senior interest. Exams are a matter of the past.
- May 20. Final examinations for remaining students begin.
- May 22. Plenty of opportunity was afforded for perspiration while executing an exam.
- May 24. A music program is given under the auspices of the Music Department.
- May 25. Class Day exercises occupy the hours of the morning.
The evening is devoted to a Public Alumni meeting.
- May 26. The baccalaureate sermon is administered.
- May 27. Commencement finally climaxes four years of highly anticipatory work. Dr. Rufus Jones is the speaker of the occasion.
"And now let us embrace and kiss furiously."

IN TRUST FOR HUMANITY

"They are only loyal to this college who, departing, bear their added riches in trust for humanity."

This ideal, chiseled on the gateway which leads from the campus of a certain American College out into the world of service, is likewise inscribed in the hearts of a great majority of the students of Brethren colleges.

But how can this trust be fulfilled in the highest way?

Certainly no field of service offers greater possibilities than that of religious leadership.

Bethany Seminary has been established and is being maintained by the Church of the Brethren to prepare her college graduates for the most efficient service in the ministry, the mission field, religious education, and other fields of Christian work.

Courses are offered leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Religious Education.

FOR THE HOMELIKE LOAF THE PRIZE

Gunzenhauser's Bread was awarded first prize among leading bakers of the United States and Canada. Not on any one score alone did it win this Prize—but for the highest quality of flavor, nourishment, texture, lasting freshness, crustiness, and color. It had to be the finest loaf of all—in every way—to deserve this honor.
